

About the artist

Critterarty is the cosy burrow of Sydney artist, Lenny Pelling, where she unearths the secret lives of critters great and small, weird and wonderful, furred and feathered.

In 2016, Lenny discovered an office setting was no natural habitat for an artist (and certainly no place to let loose quokkas and cockatoos from her imagination) and so, one quiet, rosy morning Critterarty was born.

These days, you'll find Lenny working from her home studio in Western Sydney, creating pencil artworks of such eye-watering detail as to make you want to reach out and touch.

Critterarty's commitment to our astonishing animals also extends beyond the page through our support of wildlife and animal charities with some of our proceeds being donated each quarter.
